

Environmental Compliance

As a contract manufacturer with no OEM product or design services offered, Wallace builds products to our customers' specifications only. We do not collect environmental compliance data for customers' bills of materials and expect that customers will have qualified their components when designing their own products. For customers who request that Wallace provide environmental compliance data for their products, we may partner with data collection and validation services to provide this service, with all costs for initial reporting and future maintenance to be borne by the customer.
